My farm has been unprofitable for 2 yrs due to decreased subsidies and increased expenses. I have been having record high yields these past years and when average yields come I will not be able to farm.

I propose a redefining of the bushel. It would be like a stock split.

New bushel = 45 lbs wheat

The lumber ~~co~~ industry has done it with the 2x4 and now with ½" plywood being defined as 15/32".

Farmer morale would increase because of increased perception of yields and combine capacities.
