

From: "union4@inlandnet.com%inter2" <union4@inlandnet.com>
Subject: Farm Bill 2007 Official Comments - 08/28/2005 01:21 PM CDT
Date Sent: 08/28/2005 01:21:35 CDT
Date Received: 08/28/2005 01:22:56 CDT

Email: union4@inlandnet.com
FirstName: Kipp
LastName: Meyer
Address1: 4801 Union Flat Road
Address2:
City: Colton
State: Washington
zipcode: 99113

Question1: I only have this to say about all of your questions: your questions are a JOKE. The president and all of you have no idea what we go through year after year. I'm 39 yrs old and have farmed all my life, now with a family of 4, and all of our income comes off a 1000 acre farm in Washington State. We grow the only thing that our climate will allow, which is wheat, and you continue to let the countries and exporters of the world rake us over the coals, so to speak. There is absolutely nothing any of you can do to improve the farm situation, short of paying all of our bills and letting us make a profit. You all make too much money, do not work enough, and have no idea how the average American citizen goes through life. The old saying is walk a mile in our shoes and you will know what it will take to survive. You all too busy living up the good life and keeping us under your foot so we can't get ahead. Your last program cost me 50% of the payments I received, and I'm sure you will take the rest this time. If you really want my advice: screw the other countries and return to the farm bill of 10 years ago. At least you will keep the farmers that are farming now in business. If you continue trimming or reducing the programs, prepare yourselves for a mass exodus from farming and a massive increase in the home building market, because all the farmers will start to sell out to developers. You will stop ag production in the USA, then you and MR. Johanne can put all of the so-called program payments into purchasing food from other countries. I have more to say, but I feel I have wasted too much time already with you and your so-called farm bill.

Sincerely, Kipp Meyer

Question2:
Question3:
Question4:
Question5:
Question6: