Question3: There are always loopholes to be closed. When a landowner with land along a river gets flooded out 8 out of 10 years and receives crop insurance, disaster payments and money to clean up the mess, there's something wrong with the whole picture. There are programs to take this land out of production but why would the landowner do that when he receives all these other payments!

Question4: Programs like EQIP with local work groups setting priorities are good. CRP should follow the same lines with LOCAL input as to priorities. CSP program rewarding landowners for good conservation practices is a step in the right direction.
