Question1: This whole argument is bullshit -- you are just looking for us to tell you it is okay to reduce our income whether as landowners or renters ---- you should put money into local family farmers hands

Question2: Stop the damn trade negotiators that are negotiating away our competitive advantages....they are not working for us they are working for the international corporate interest

Question3: Farm program benefits should be targeted at "family farmers" and not at corporate farming -- very easy to understand but the "family farmers" don't have hundreds of millions of lobbying money to throw at the USDA -- therefore you guys have trouble understanding it.

Question4: Tell the World Trade Organization to put it where the Sun don't shine, and start emphasizing ag policy that benefits your own American family farmers.

Question5: Get money into the "family farmers" hands -- that money will stay in the local communities.....when you put the lion's share of the money into multinational corporate farms hands it leaves the local communities.....

Question6: Organic farming, organic farming, organic farming....

BTW, why in the world did you schedule Wyomings 2007 farm bill forum in Jackson Hole Wyoming????It is the most difficult place to get to, the most expensive place to stay in the state and has no agriculture.....you apparently want no farmer participation -- that is certainly the message you have sent us.....but it should be a good vacation spot for you high paid government beaurocrats.....who will be staying the finest hotels at taxpayers expense....
