Question1: if government stays out of the realestate the free matket will balance itself.

This is what a free sociaty and a capitalistic economy is suposed to do. If other countries don't have a free sociaty does that mean we must give up our freedom to be competative? I say no! keep the regulators out of the free matket.

There is a lot of b.l.m. land that is not being used that would make good farm land. This land could be leased for farming or could be sold to new farmers.

Question3: I don't believe the government should be paying farmers for products unless the government is recieving the product. let the free market balance itself.
