Question1: I think if farm programs were limited to people that make their primary living from farming it would help deter some of the investors.

Question2:

Question3: I feel like there should be a cap in government payments. I think that $50,000 would be a lot more appropriate then the cap there is now. Also I think that the only people that have farming as there main source of income should recieve them. I think that would help deter some investors from buying land which would also help make it easier for small and beginning farms to compete.

Question4: By allocating more money for help farmers to do conservation projects. Also if farmers don't want to follow conservation pratices they should not be allowed any farm program payments.

Question5: I think first they need to be sure to keep the roads up for good travel and transport of farm products. They also should help with getting more internet access of DSL services or similar to make it easier to get needed information to stay competitive.

Question6: It needs to be easier to buy crop insurance for organic or other specialty crops. Funding for more research would also be good.
