Question3: The direct payment plan should be completely eliminated. It is nothing more than a welfare program in its present form.

There needs to reform in the way that LDP is figured. At present it is an incentive to over-produce. There should be a limit on the number of bushels per acre that would be eligible for LDP guarantees. This would have an indirect effect of reducing the overuse of nitrogen fertilizer to produce as much as possible. This would also reduce total production which would raise the overall price. This could in effect possibly eliminate any LDP payments being made all.
