Question1: Do away with the "wildlife" subsidies. This only encourages "recreation ranches" and commercial hunting operations which now threaten and are already over-running "real" farmers and ranchers. This is the cause for soaring land prices.

Question2: Quit subsidizing products that are not edible. For example: It is up to me to figure out how I can produce the same quality wool as does Australia. I can't blame a company that buys a better product unless I can produce the equivalent product and then usda should ensure that i get a fair shot.

Question3: The above argument is exactly what is going on. Go to <http://www.ewg.org/farm> and the facts are there. The big farmers actually "farm" the government. This usda "welfare" just teases the little farmer but the big farmer "banks" on these payments.

Question4: Reduce usda involvement.

Question5: No comment.

Question6: Promote these areas: ethenol, wool as a form of building insulation, organic food industry, grass-fed meat.
