Question1: The reduction or cancellation of all current farm subsidies should help level the playing field.

Question2: Reducing our subsidies should help convince other nations to "play fair" with price supports.

Question3: It seems a more fair distribution of supports between different crops is needed. We should eliminate some of the obvious excesses and save tax $ and consumer $, as well.

Question4: Better planning could direct priorities to areas of over-production and pollution generation.

Question5: An intensive and wide-spread "education" program would insure that all farmers know about federal programs, new farming methods and procedures.

Question6: See answer 5
