Question1: we need a program that first of all makes it possible for competition within the US, but doesn't force out farmers who can't compete with grains and produce from other countries. Farm land needs to stay farm land

Question2: If we have good competition within farmers in this country, the foreign markets will take care of themselves. But we should not be dependant on foreign grains or produce.

Question3: Encourage competition within the country for local markets and US markets

Question4: Land Conservation and environmental stewardship are very important, but we should answer to our government only. The World Trade Organization obligations are nice for other countries, not us.

Question5: Don't support big agri-business to the detriment of small farmers.

Question6: I would let business fund the programs that might benefit business. If there is a greater public benefit to be gained by economic support, then public support is okay.
