Question1: I do not believe that farm policy has resulted in higher land prices. Land speculation and development have caused prices to rise.

Question2: Farm policy should continue to encourage maximum production of food and fiber with the minimum environmental consequences. Existing farm policy has been very effective toward this goal.

Question3: Allow multi-farm cooperatives / partnerships to apply for assistance. This also improves watershed and wildlife habitat management opportunities.

Question4: Liberalize program access to include natural areas, give invasive species control a high priority and allow more partnerships of landowners, NGO's, wildlife groups, etc. to qualify for assistance.

Question5: I believe the current programs are working well.

Question6: Add more funding to the current research programs of land grant universities and industry.
