Question1: Yeah.Ive been planning on building a farm will this affect that? We have 2 acres it's not much but we were going to have pigs,goats,chickens, maybe build a small barn for them but my misunderstanding came in of why? The less vegetation and animal products the more the people will suffer in the future! I mean what if we have a population boom or a plegue for and example:MAD COW,Bird Flu- its one of those things that could ruin the market! yet have this come through and give it a chance and that would be the end of it would it or wouldn't it?
