Question1:

Question2: Provide more support for local farmers markets because there is a growing demand for that.

Question3: I have a hispanic relative who shows up in the ewg database with a $-108. That's right, a negative. Did this poor hispanic farm laborer with a small bit of his own farming produce too well? Was he just too efficient? Or was there some mistake? I would like to know. I'll give his name if you'll respond to me.

I know of a multimillionaire who holds his hand out for usda welfare to the tune of about $25,000 per year. As usual, it's a CRP rental that pays people who don't want to work or let others who are more capable, work his land. But of course, he double dips and hunts that CRP land for big $$$. USDA money is hard to match. I will give names of these folks if you'll respond to me.
