

From: "roadesteve@aol.com%inter2" <roadesteve@aol.com>
Subject: Farm Bill 2007 Official Comments - 11/01/2005 04:36 PM CST
Date Sent: 11/01/2005 04:36:13 CST
Date Received: 11/01/2005 04:36:35 CST

Email: roadesteve@aol.com

FirstName: Steven

LastName: Bruno

Address1: 26 east frances ave

Address2:

City: Morganville

State: New Jersey

zipcode: 07751

Question1: offer an land owner the opportunity to zone his land permantly for farming only. You can't live on it, you can't run a buisness off of it, you can't do anything except grow food stuffs. This will reduce the price of that land forever. No handouts, if you want to prevent people from selling off their farms let them opt to make their farm land worth much less then it is. Then see if anyone wants to do it.
Question2: a farmer grows what s/he wants to grow, end of story. If you want them to grow something else write a book about it's profitability, then give it to them. Maybe, they'll see it from your point of view.
Question3: What buisness does the government have insuring and subsidizing farmers let private industry do that.
Question4: less pesticides, less spraying? but that would mean less profitable farms...its a double edged sword you can't have your cake and eat it too. Let the farmers farm their own way and let a private industry develop safer pesticides and amrket it to farmers.
Question5: get the feds out of that...privite industry can do it better with less waste and curruption.
Question6: stop regulating, stop with the industrial, agricultural welfare