I believe we need to have lower payment limitations so big farmers especially in the midwest would not receive 100s of thousand of dollars. I believe this almost forces them to buy more machinery to avoid high income tax. When they expand this drives up land prices and cash rents. This makes it hard for new or small farmers to rent land because they use payments for living expenses in local economies. I also believe some big farmers use payments to start new farms in Brazil, which creates glut on world markets.
