Question1: End corporate feudalism now!

Question2: Homegrown's all right for me, homegrown's the way it should be.

Question3: Subsidised overproduction makes Everyone poorer.

Question4: The farmer himself knows best how to conserve and renew his own land as long as he doesn't have to squeeze everything he can out of every square inch of soil just to make ends meet.

Question5: Government should do everything it can to improve commerce. Ending corporate feudalism is a critical first step.

Question6: Encourage (make it possible for) INDIVIDUAL farmers to try any product they think will sell. Corn, wheat, rice, soybeans, cotton, beef, hogs, & chickens are'nt the only game in town, no matter what ADM, Cargill, Hormel & Tyson say.
