Question1:

Question2: Domestic & foreign consumers care about how farm animals are treated. The USDA should propose eliminating the most deplorable factory farming practices (such as crates for pregnant sows & veal calves, & battery cages for hens).

Question3: The USDA should stop providing financial assistance to producers that engage in practices that are proven to be inhumane.

Question4: Eliminating factory farming practices will certainly benefit animal welfare & the environment. The USDA should propose minimum space allowances for animals and policies that reduce pollution and waste disposal problems.
