

From: "sn1014@sbcglobal.net%inter2" <sn1014@sbcglobal.net>
Subject: Farm Bill 2007 Official Comments - 11/29/2005 04:46 PM CST
Date Sent: 11/29/2005 04:46:53 CST
Date Received: 11/29/2005 04:47:15 CST

Email: sn1014@sbcglobal.net

FirstName: Susan

LastName: Nauslar

Address1: 12233 Folsom Blvd.

Address2:

City: Rancho Cordova

State: California

zipcode: 95742

Question1:

Question2: Europe is already far ahead of the U.S. in the humane treatment of animals. We just need to adopt humane standards that are at least as good as Europe... if everyone has to go by the same standards, it doesn't hurt the competition. Bottom line, if someone is going to be discouraged from going into farming because he will have to treat animals humanely... lets hope he does get discouraged! Our focus should be on doing what is right, and let the chips fall!

Question3: It is the large factories which receive the large subsidies, generally. And it is generally the large factories that practice the most intensive confinement and cruelty in handling. The USDA should cease giving subsidies to those who treat animals inhumanely, period! Would you propose giving subsidies to child abusers to go out and "buy" more child prostitutes?

Question4: Allowing animals enough space to do what they would do naturally as opposed to what they do in intense confinement would lessen the horrible pollution caused by these mammoth factory farms that not only keep the animals in horrible conditions, but are the worst offenders in polluting the environment.

Question5:

Question6: