Question1: Farm Bill should provide funding for states to establish programs to link available farmland with new start-up farmers.

Question2:

Question3: Current farm bill distribution favors a few commodity producers, and should be redirected to assist ALL farmers, including specialty crops, livestock, etc. Establishing federal block grants to states for Farm Viability Enhancement programs would effectively assist all farm types.

Question4: Farmers should receive cost-sharing for environmental improvements. Less red tape to administer, and more staffing at NRCS needed to make EQIP work effectively.

Question5: Current Rural Development programs appear to work well.

Question6: Research dollars should hold land grant universities accountable to production ag in their state.
