Question1: Provide more support for smaller farms, special grants or something of the like.

Question2: The US could use its resources to grow more sustainable goods, rather than meat, like soybeans or grain. The money that is put into the death and slaughter of animals could be better spent other places.

Question3: Stop giving money to farms that are inhumane and cruel and fall below standards for sanitation and cruelty.

Question4: The slaughter of animals is horribly detrimental to the environment. The run off, the hazardous waste, it's horrific and it affects everyone. Farm things that are sustainable and don't need to be killed.

Question5: Provide substidies and help for independant farms and provide less assistance for large, corporate farms.

Question6: The advancement of organic farming, as the demand is on the rise, and a move away from animals. They are bad for our health anyway. Create a healthy America.
