Question3: I have no comment on this.

Question4: I do not eat meat, one of my reasons being a concern for the environmental hazards the meat industry wreaks on not only our soil, but abroad, and air and water quality as well. I think if future farm policy were to rally be concerned about the environment, they would take these hazards into consideration and seek new alteratives for farmers to meat production.

Question5: I have no comment on this.

Question6: I believe that in light of the health of the citizens of the United States and the medically sound links to obesity and heart failure to dairy and meat, it would serve the country more to expand past the meat and dairy industries into organic soybeans, wheat, fruits and vegetables.
