CHARLES GATES: I have two other things: nutrition funds. I would very much like it, MR. Under Secretary, if you could take a look at that. Right now it's a part of our administrative funding, and is there a way that it can be additionally funded. I believe that every region is making a supreme effort in trying to utilize a small amount of money that they now get to offer nutrition education to the participant. I would very much like to see that. If you compare it to the Food Stamp Program again, we come out very, very short on that end.

And the other thing, and it may have already been addressed, if you might be looking at this, is the best use date issues. There's a problem with some of the products in the way that it is handled. Our people are becoming more and more observant when they come to pick up their foods, if they see something, and we are told there is a memo out there, the best of use means just that, it's still good, but use it right away. I would like to see that. They are saying it's an industry thing, maybe we can make some changes there. Thank you.
