

Scott Hutchins, Ph.D., Deputy Under Secretary United States Department of Agriculture Research, Education, and Economics Mission

Dr. Scott Hutchins is the Deputy Under Secretary for the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Research, Education, and Economics mission area which is comprised of the Agricultural Research Service, Economic Research Service, National Agricultural Statistics Service, National Institute of Food and Agriculture and Office of the Chief Scientist. Together these agencies have unique federal leadership responsibility to advance agriculture research, extension, and education. Dr. Hutchins is a Board-Certified Entomologist, Adjunct Professor of entomology at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, Past President of the Entomological Society of America (ESA), Fellow of the ESA, and Honorary Member of the ESA. Dr. Hutchins received a B.S. in entomology from Auburn University, a M.S. in entomology from Mississippi State University, and a Ph.D. in entomology from Iowa State University. Dr. Hutchins joined in his current role is USDA after retiring from the private-sector where he served in a wide range of technical and leadership roles focused on agricultural innovation.