

Steven L. Elmore

Steven L. Elmore is the Chief Economist of the Agricultural Division of DowDuPont. He joined Pioneer in January of 1998 as Market Economist. Since that time, his role has expanded within DuPont Pioneer and has served the company in many different leadership roles in operations, sales & marketing and finance while still holding his lead economist position. He was named to his current position in June 2017. Prior to joining Pioneer, Steve worked as the U.S. Agriculture Market and Policy Analyst for the Food and Agricultural Policy Research Institute (FAPRI) in the Economics Department at Iowa State University.

Steve represents the company externally and speaks frequently to customers, trade associations, government employees & policy makers and other business teams on a global basis.

Steve grew up in rural Nebraska and now lives in the Des Moines, Iowa, USA area with his wife and their two sons.